From the Department of Economics at the University of Otago, New Zealand

Presented by Dr. Shrabani Saha

All Welcome on Wednesday 17th April 12 - 1:30pm

Stephen Knowles is a Professor of Economics at the University of Otago, New Zealand. He is a former president of the New Zealand Association of Economists and is an external research fellow of the Centre for Research on Economic Development and International Trade (CREDIT) at the University of Nottingham, UK. He has research interests in both development economics and experimental economics. His recent research in development economics has focused on measuring economic development and well-being, and on aid allocation. His recent work in experimental economics has focused on altruism and charitable giving, with a focus on giving to international development charities.

Dr Shrabani Saha has visited the University of Otago for two weeks in July 2018 where she was invited and hosted by Stephen. Both of whom are now working on a joint project, Stephen will also be meeting other academics in LIBS during his stay in Lincoln.
